Modified County Water Scheme Proposes $2,500,000 Saving

BOARD TAKES NO ACTION
ON OFFER

Proponents of Altered Program Given More Time to Work
QUESTION LEGALITY
Prospects of Second Vote in Six Months Needs Answer

Orange county's tentatively-proposed modified flood control plan, it was learned today, proposes to lop nearly $2,500,000 off the revised Elliott plan which was defeated Oct. 4 in a county-wide bond election.

When the plan was originally submitted for federal approval the estimated cost was placed at $11,600,000, but later was increased by army engineers.

The modified plan, as prepared by C. Roy Browning, Irvine company engineer, and F. C. Finkle, San Bernardino engineer, would cut the cost of the flood control and water conservation project through elimination of at least five small dams, the Carbon canyon conduit, Brea pipe line and run-off work in Coyote creek, and reduce the cost of construction of the Prado dam and reservoir.

To Circulate Petition
Mr. Finkle was employed by the Water Users association of Orange county in 1929 and opposed a proposed bond issue for a county water program which called for a dam at a lower site on the Santa Ana river.

Volunteer workers today were preparing to circulate 300 copies of a petition to the board of supervisors, asking that another election be called, "upon a plan which will meet the approval of the federal government, retain for our use a major portion of the federal grant and provide for the minimum needs of the county."

Decision to circulate the petitions was reached at a meeting of the citizens' water committee in the farm bureau office yesterday afternoon. The petitions will be circulated throughout the county, with special attention on Santa Ana. Copies will be placed in public places and the petitions will be delivered to the supervisors next Tuesday.

STATE'S RELIEF
LOAD 626,717

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (AP)—California's relief load has been reduced to 626,717 persons Oct. 1, compared with 864,801 in January, it was revealed today in a report by Frank Y. McLaughlin, state relief administrator. Mr. McLaughlin credited the lessening of the load to "improved business conditions, plus the fact that thousands of men have found employment in seasonal occupations and on federal works projects."

Roch Bradshaw Goes Back To School, Finds Pupils Being 'Prepared To Live'

By ROCH BRADSHAW
A large bus drove up to the curb and stopped. Boys and girls began to pile out—40 or 50 of them. Before the first bus was empty another drove up and more students disembarked. Another one arrived. They kept coming. In the space of less than two minutes six of the big "omnibuses" halted and discharged their cargoes of laughing, chattering students. These busses carried 78,058 student passengers last year.

FRUIT UNHURT LOCAL WELL DURING COLD IS CAPPED

Expected Wind Fails to Arrive; Temperature Drops to 35
Drilling Is Halted at Continental Derrick Southwest of City

The expected "Santa Ana" wind, which threatened to bother Orange county residents yesterday, failed to materialize.

In its place, however, came a cold wave which experts think was the outside edge of a freezing area which centered in Washington, where great damage was reported in apple orchards.

The thermometer dropped to 35 degrees at 6 a. m. today and remained at that point for a half-hour.

FLORIDA IS BRACED FOR 2ND BLOW

Hurricane Expected to Hit Again, This Time North of Tampa
DUE WITHIN 24 HOURS

Heavy Damage Done by Storm Monday; Death Toll Stands at 7

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 6. (AP)—Floridians braced today for a return visit of a freak hurricane which yesterday had left more than $2,000,000 damage and seven deaths.

The storm hammered 215 miles out into the gulf of Mexico, then slowed down and began to curve northward.

Grady Norton, Jacksonville weather bureau meteorologist, said it was "fairly certain" the disturbance would pass over Florida again within 24 hours, this time somewhere north of Tampa.

Trail of Sunken Boats
The storm howled in from the Atlantic Monday, swept past Miami and into the everglades, leaving a trail of sunken boats, smashed homes and uprooted crops.

The steamship Elizabeth was blown around off Miami Beach and two barges were adrift on the east coast. Two other ships, the Florida and Sneland, went through after battling the seas and winds.

Three Crafts Adrift
On the state's west coast the tug Lapping, en route from Tampa to Charleston, S. C., was reported by the coast guard to have been disabled, and its three tows, a barge, a derrick and a dredge, cast loose in the face of the storm.

The cutter Nemesis towed the Lapping to Punta Rassa and then went in search of the three drifting craft. The coast guard ordered three cutters to clear the gulf waters of small boats.

Exciting Rescues Told
Stories of exciting rescues or escapes from death came out of the southern part of the state after the passage of the storm there. Howard Cates, 20, was washed ashore at Miami Beach.

Yesterday three charges of dynamite were set off in the hole with a view to loosening up the strata so that oil underneath could flow more easily, but no oil flowed, it was reported.

A crew was busy capping the well today. The hole was drilled on property belonging to Ernest McClure, which was part of a lease covering nearly 1000 acres. Lessees were to receive a one-sixth royalty if oil was found. Drilling of the well commenced early in October.

PART HOLIDAY HERE NOV. 11

Originally planned for Nov. 11, Armistice day, to allow employees and their families to attend the parade to be staged at Anaheim. Banks and other financial institutions, as well as the courthouse and other public offices, will be closed throughout the day. The postoffice will be closed from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. Mail delivery service will be maintained.

Efforts have been made to bring about complete closing of stores on Armistice day, but because of the fact that stores in cities outside the county remain open, it has been difficult to agree upon closing Orange county stores throughout the day.

Green, Still A. F. of L. Head, Renews 30-Hour Week Fight

William Green, usually placid chief of organized labor, does have moments when he "opens up" as is evidenced by the inset. But his eleventh year as A. F. of L. president, which he now is starting, finds him mostly concerned with pacifying warring factions in the organization.

Has Peacemaker's Role to Halt War Within Ranks of Labor

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Placid President William Green leads the legions of organized labor for his eleventh consecutive year since he stepped into the big shoes of unionism's famed old warrior, the late Samuel Gompers.

Having weathered the most turbulent A. F. of L. convention of his regime, President Green now is trying to foster peace between warring factions and to mobilize the federation's forces for a renewed campaign for a shorter work week and additional legislative safeguards for labor.

SUTHERLAND, Sask., Nov. 6. (AP)—A blaze of gunfire at a dinner party killed Mr. and Mrs. Steve Shilnetz last night, ending what guests and Royal Canadian Mounted Police said was a prolonged family quarrel.

County's Share in Hospital Site Goes On Block

Orange county's 56 per cent interest in the Tri-Counties hospital site at Beaumont which has cost this county a total of $19,004 to date, will go on the auction block Dec. 3, according to action taken yesterday afternoon by the board of supervisors.

The highest cash offer for the entire property so far has been $1500.

Under a resolution adopted by the board, this county's $7,390.08 share in the property will be sold to the highest bidder. The auction will be held on the south steps of the courthouse at 11:45 a. m.

While the resolution authorizing the sale specifies that this county's share in the property be sold to the highest bidder, it is expected that the highest bid will be submitted by the county of Riverside.

Originally purchased by Orange, Riverside and Imperial counties to be used as a site for a tuberculosis hospital, at a total cost of $13,000, the property has been a white elephant on the hands of the three counties for several years.

When the property was purchased by the counties in 1924 it was one of the most valuable pear orchards in Southern California. After purchasing the property it was learned that the cost of building and maintaining a tuberculosis hospital on the site would be exorbitant. It would have been cheaper, according to one critic, to house the patients at Palm Springs or the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles.

For several years the ranch was operated with Riverside county paying for the maintenance, collecting all income and billing the other counties for their share of the net cost of operation. During the period from 1924 to 1930, Orange county's share of this upkeep was $8,223.92.

A few years ago a blight destroyed the pear orchard and the trees were uprooted. Since that time the property has declined until today it is a haven for tramps and other undesirables. Efforts to sell the property were unsuccessful until recently a cash offer of 1500 for the property was received by Riverside county.

Under the present plan it is believed that Riverside county will bid in Orange county's interest in the property, later purchase the Imperial county interest at auction, and accept the $1500 offer.

Including the county's share of the purchase price, the $8223.92 expended in operation costs and $3385 paid for architectural services, Orange county has invested a total of $19,004 in the property. The highest bid expected for the 56 per cent interest held by Orange county will be considerably under $1000.

BOTH PARTIES HAPPY OVER BALLOTING

G. O. P. Increases Hold on New Jersey State Assembly Also BOURBONS WIN SEATS

Two Representatives to Washington Elected by Democrats

By The Associated Press
While Kentucky's votes were being counted today, both Republican and Democratic party leaders expressed satisfaction with the outcome of yesterday's elections in other states.

Republicans hailed the election of a Republican majority to the New York state assembly as a good omen for 1936, but the Democrats said the New Deal had been vindicated by a 500,000 majority in popular votes.

Conflicting Claims
Similar conflicting claims came from New Jersey where the Republican control of the state assembly was increased, but the Democrats ran up a record majority of 137,000 for assembly candidates in Hudson county. In 1932, a Democratic majority of 117,000 was enough to carry the state.

Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee, hailed the returns as "the forerunner of what will happen next year."

"The boondogglers are on their way out," Fletcher said in a formal statement. "The Republican party is on its way back to power. New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland tell the story and point the way."

But in New York, James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, contended the balloting in that state was a victory for the New Deal.

Answers Questions
The federal administration was sustained by more than 500,000 majority, which ought to be sufficient answer to the question of the continued popularity of Franklin D. Roosevelt," he said.

Republicans elected 82 out of the 150 New York assemblymen; the Democrats won the two contests for the national house of representatives; and Governor Lehman's $55,000,000 state relief bond issue was overwhelmingly approved.

Republicans elected mayors in Philadelphia and Cleveland, but Democrats won in Hartford and New Haven, Conn.

TROOPS ARE READY Advance Guard Routed, Ethiopian Leaders Report at Capital

By The Associated Press
Today's developments in the undeclared Italo-Ethiopian war:

ITALIAN FRONT.—Native scouts of the Italian army report Fascist flag already flying in Makale, present objective of the invading forces. Main body of army will start advance on this strategic city at dawn tomorrow.

ADDIS ABABA.—Government communiques says small band of Ethiopians repulsed Italian scouts near Makale, killing 10 invaders and taking four prisoners.

ASMARA, Eritrea, Nov. 6. (AP)—Italian general headquarters announced today that the army would start its advance into Ethiopia again at dawn tomorrow—all along the line.

Deep mud formed by yesterday torrential rains was already dry, and roadbuilding has been so rapid that supplies could now reach the front with ease.

The column based at Agula, about 18 miles northeast of the objective city of Makale, will go straight south to Dolo, just east of Makale, it was announced, while the main force will proceed from Hauzien to Makale.

AT THE FRONT WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY, Nov. 6. (AP)—Italian scouts reported to headquarters today that an Italian flag is "already flying" in Makale, the objective of the present drive, although the city has not yet formally surrendered.

The scouts were members of the native Ethiopians in the command of Degiac Fassa, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, who joined the Italian cause.

HELENA FEELS HEAVY QUAKE

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 6. (AP)—Still intermittently jostled by convulsive earth movements, Helena was given a sound jolting at 8:23 a. m. today by one of the stiffest aftershocks since Oct. 31 when two persons were killed, many injured and much additional damage inflicted.

Though no new damage was reported, the severe jarring served to open wider cracks in buildings still standing; to rattle and knock down loosened objects, and to momentarily frighten a city crowd somewhat used to less severe joltings.

It was the twenty-sixth consecutive day of tremors and including the two disastrous shakings of Oct. 18 and 31, the movements totaled 877.

MERRIAM DEMANDS HEADS REPAY PART OF BIG EXPENSE TOLLS

OFFICIALS TO 'SQUARE UP' WITH STATE

Governor Hurls Fiery Ultimatum On Money Spent By Leaders

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 6 (AP)—The state stood in line today for repayment of portions of excessively large expense accounts drawn by a group of public officials.

Governor Merriam, in one of the most emphatic pronouncements of his administration, served notice that he would demand "restitution" from those state officials who have run up large expense accounts by establishing their headquarters in one city and living elsewhere, thereby collecting a maximum expense of $8 daily from the state.

Demand Repayment
Merriam said he would demand that officers submitting excessive expense accounts repay the state for at least the period he has been in office and that officials establish their headquarters either here or elsewhere in the city where they are required by law and remain here or otherwise in the city where state business requires their presence most continuously.

"I intend to see all of them and I shall see that they square this thing up," he declared.

Coinciding with his attack upon this practice he announced that he was formulating plans to curtail sharply other "loose" customs commonly employed by state officials in computing their expenses.

Wants Revisions
He said he would ask the state board of control, which lays out rules for the preparation of expense accounts, to make the following revisions:

Reduce the maximum allowable daily expense of traveling state officials from $8 to $6.
Specify that traveling officials using private automobiles may charge no more mileage than the trip would cost if made by train.

Require officials to provide a more detailed itemization of their trips than the mere statement: "Official business."

Differences in Costs
Require officials to list only actual expenses, the governor pointing out that in many instances hotels allowed state employees special rates while the employees charged the state for the full cost of rooms.

Force state officials to cut down on the number of trips, telegrams and telephone calls in the transaction of state business and make more use of the mails in the interest of economy.

MORE ABOUT WATER PLAN

torney, A. W. Rutan, appeared and went into an executive "huddle" with the supervisors. Following the conference, it was announced by Chairman John C. Mitchell of the board of supervisors, that "more time was requested for completion of the plan." Members of the water board declined to make any statement.

In announcing the failure of sponsors of the modified plan to have the project completed, Chairman Mitchell said that proponents of the plan wanted more time in which to check details with the county's advisory board of engineers, consisting of B. A. Eicher, Thomas Means and A. Kempke. Mr. Browning and M. N. Thompson, county flood control engineer, are expected to leave some time this week for San Francisco to confer with the other engineers.

Expect Legality Opinion
While engineers and others are debating the probability of the modified plan being approved by the voters and the federal government, the board of supervisors expects to learn Friday whether a second flood control bond election within six months of the first would be legal.

The board adjourned yesterday until Friday at 3 p. m. at which time, it was said, a ruling on the question of a second election's legality from the law firm of O'Melveny, Tuller and Meyers, Los Angeles legal experts, is expected.

When Mr. Browning, secretary, C. A. Palmer, W. C. Maurehan and Willis T. Warner, representing the water board, failed to present the modified plan, it was said that all members of the water board and the supervisors had been pledged to secrecy as to provisions of the new program.

Members of the board of supervisors denied that the book containing the plan "was even opened."

Includes Prado Dam

It was learned from reliable sources, however, that the modified plan included construction of the Prado dam and reservoir on the upper site but at a lower cost than was estimated in the original Elliott plan and later boosted by government engineers. According to information received, cost of the project under the modified plan would be $7,000,000 or less.

Construction of the San Juan dam, at its original estimate of $1,007,980, was included in the project, as was the Brea canyon dam. The original estimate of $697,943 for the Brea canyon dam, it was reported, was not changed in the modified plan.

Those Eliminated
It also was indicated that the Santa Ana river channel and spreading works would be included in the project. This project would cost $375,000, or the same amount as included in the Elliott plan, under the new proposal.

Dams and other projects eliminated from the program as prepared by Mr. Browning and Mr. Eicher are: Carbon canyon dam, $481,900; Trabuco canyon dam, $617,500; Alliso canyon dam, $110,850; Santiago canyon dam, $498,560; Carbon canyon conduit, $131,382; Brea pipe line, $86,643; Coyote creek run-off, $147,108, and the Fullerton dam and Loftus diversion, $149,737.

It is possible, according to information received today, that the plan may be subject to additional changes following the conference with the county advisory engineering board and before its promised submission to the supervisors next Tuesday.

after seven hours in a raging sea. His two companions, Grady Slade, 23, and a Negro, Jim Cox, drowned when their fishing boat upset.

Three youths, Bob Ford, Don Putnam and Arthur Burke, were thrown into the water when their boat was capsized and were picked up by Caspet Hefty, Jr., and Deblouis Milledge, in a launch.

The school was opened in the Dobner block on South Glassell street in 1903. Mr. Higgins recalled, "Charles E. Taylor was principal. There were four teachers and 86 pupils."

The school turned out some pretty good products in those days, too, judging from some of the names in the annuals. Among the early students were Logan Jackson, now sheriff; Earl Campbell, prominent orange grower; George Wells, now president of the Santa Ana board of education; Clyde Shoemaker, well known Los Angeles attorney, and Holmes Bishop, citrus grower and farm bureau director.

There are few institutions in Orange which arouse more enthusiasm in that community than its Union High school.

PLAN TO SELL SECRETLY TO ITALY BARED BY LEAGUE

GENEVA, Nov. 6 (AP)—The League of Nations tonight issued an official communique stating that the committee of 18 was informed the German government has learned certain persons are purchasing goods in Germany with the probable intention of re-selling them to Italy and Ethiopia.

The communique said this re-selling to belligerents was supposedly at a large profit and "the government therefore promised to issue a decree to render such speculation impossible."

End Speculation
Although the communique was not specific, league officials said this means the German government will put an end to such speculation.

The transit subcommittee of the league decided that members participating in economic sanctions against Italy must themselves prevent banned exports from reaching the Fascist nation.

Seek Guarantees
The committee definitely dropped the proposal to obtain guarantees from non-member states that they will not re-export to Italy products listed on the embargo.

It also abandoned the idea of enforcing quota restrictions against the league countries of Austria, Hungary, Albania which are not participating in the economic sanctions.

REDUCTION OF FORCES IN MEDITERRANEAN AIDED
LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Progress toward a joint reduction of British and Italian forces in the Mediterranean was believed by informed sources today to be under way.

There was a possibility, it was pointed out, that Mussolini has promised to reduce his troops' strength in Libya to normal and to desist from anti-British propaganda, but only if the British in turn undertook to reduce their Mediterranean fleet to normal.

CREMATION CRIME AID
ABERDEEN (AP)—Fear that poisoners might be encouraged by the Aberdeen town council in rejecting a proposal for a municipal crematorium, Councillor George Duncan stated that many poisoners would have gone free if there had been cremation of their victims.

reach Makale and that when they entered the city, the populace received them "with enthusiasm."

Infantry Ready
The infantrymen of the main Italian column kicked clouds of drying mud from their hob-nailed boots today and prepared to push on to Makale tomorrow.

The troops in the main body of Gen. Emilio de Bono's army were all the keener to get on the march today because scouting patrols, which had reached to Makale itself, reported that shadowy forces of Ethiopians under Ras Sayum were withdrawing before them.

Anxious for Battle
De Bono's men want to come to grips with the enemy and were disappointed by the forced halt of the last two days.

The spearhead battalion of the Italian army is hoping to march in to Makale tomorrow evening. The allied Ethiopians under Degias Gugsu, who are now marching under the Italian flag on the left wing, were reported as particularly anxious to make the 15-mile hike from their position into Makale in one day.

Want Full Strength
The efficient field headquarters, however, said the command was determined not to risk serious encounters without having the full Italian strength placed according to pre-determined strategy.

The front, as it shapes up for tomorrow's move forward, is distributed to the right and left across "English street," which is General Napier's old straight-line route toward Addis Ababa across the caravan routes between Haussen and Makale.

Enemy Reported
Scouting patrols reported small bands of the enemy's ranging the country immediately south of Makale.

The advance guard forces are supported by mule-mounted artillery and are flanked by thousands of mobile Askari cavalry whose hard-riding troops are ranging through the whole countryside.

When the main bodies come up to the advance guard, Italian strategy dictates that the men in advanced positions immediately set up rings of machine guns and artillery outposts to cover possible contact points.

ETHIOPIANS SLAY SCOUTS NEAR MAKALE
By JAMES A. MILLS
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 6.—An Italian scouting detachment attempting to enter Makale was expelled by Ethiopians, an official communique said today. Ten Italians and two Ethiopians were killed, it declared, in the clash over the strategic, objective city on the northern front.

The communique said the Italian scouts tried to enter Makale last night in advance of the main body of the Fascist forces, driving on that caravan center.

Four Prisoners
In addition to the 10 Italians killed, the government announcement said, four were taken prisoners, and two Ethiopians were wounded, as well as the two slain.

The government hotly denied an attempt had been made to assassinate Emperor Haile Selassie, as reported in the Rome newspaper Tribuna yesterday by its Asmara correspondent.

STRIKE FRONT IN COUNTY PEACEFUL

Although many Mexican orange pickers were still off the job today, no reports of violence or intimidation came to the sheriff's office. Most of a group of 18 men who struck Monday at the American Fruit Growers association in San Juan Capistrano returned to work late yesterday, it was reported by L. W. Rogers, manager. Agitators had been active in that district and are still working among the pickers.

The San Juan Capistrano men had been receiving 7 cents a box on good fruit and 10 cents where picking was poor. Mr. Rogers said they realized they were better off than most pickers in the county, and when they returned some of them said they were sorry they had left their jobs. The ring-leaders of the strike were not rehired.

Lucas Lucio, local representative of the Mexican consul's office at Los Angeles, said today that the strikers are still demanding 10 cents per box for picking off-blooms. They had been receiving 8 cents. He said, however, that the men are willing to come to an understanding. He expected later today to confer with a representative of the conciliation division of the federal labor board at Los Angeles.

BETTER DELHI ROADS ASKED

Because Delhi streets are so muddy in wet weather that doctors find it difficult to reach their patients, and pallbearers have to carry coffins long distances through slush, the city council Monday night was urged by four physicians to do something about the situation.

The council, however, told Matt Lujan, head of a Delhi delegation, that there isn't any money available with which to handle the situation.

Mr. Lujan presented letters from Dr. Harry Huffman, Dr. R. P. Yeagle, Dr. G. Emmett Raitt and Dr. Harry Nelson, urging that the street situation be rectified. Theo. Winbiger, undertaker, joined in the request.

Councilman Layton informed the group that the city intends to repair the streets as soon as funds are available, but that the work cannot be started until early next year. As soon as rain starts it will be impossible to do anything anyway, he said.

MORE ABOUT ELECTIONS

ting affairs in Kentucky, and there were some fist fights in Philadelphia. Elsewhere the day passed off quietly.

Edward W. Curley, Democrat, defeated Victor Santini, Republican, for congress from the 22nd New York district. His plurality of almost 23,000 compared with 19,000 in the same district in 1934.

Curley will take the seat of the late Anthony J. Griffin, Democrat. William B. Barry, Democrat, with a plurality of 101,000 over Joseph M. Conroy, Republican, as against 92,214 in 1934, won the congressional seat in the 2nd district which was vacated by William J. Brunner, Democrat, who was elected sheriff of Queens county.

Democratic Victory
Chairman Farley saw his own district in New York go Republican in the assembly voting. This also happened in the President's home of Hyde Park, but a Democratic supervisor was elected in the latter town for the first time in 35 years.

In Pennsylvania's lone statewide contest, Judge Jesse E. B. Cunningham, Republican candidate for the state superior court, had a comfortable lead over Robert L. Myers, Democrat.

S. Davis Wilson, Republican, beat back Democracy's attempt to wrest the Philadelphia mayoralty from G. O. P. control, maintained for about half a century. John B. Kelly, former Olympic carman and Democratic nominee, conceded defeat.

Mississippi went through the formality of electing Hugh White, Democrat, its new governor, and its Democratic legislature, while Virginia sent its usual Democratic majorities to the state house.

FAMILY OF 14 IS STRANDED STILL ARGUE

Here Looking For Lost Uncle

Joe Sanchez, his wife, and 12 children are searching for an uncle, Lorenzo Cerdá Rodriguez. The family arrived in Santa Ana yesterday expecting to find the relative and live with him for a while, but Mr. Rodriguez has moved away.

At 1:12 a. m. today, Santa Ana police found the family shivering and huddled together near the Goodyear Tire store at First and Spurgeon streets. Mr. Sanchez said he could not find any place in town where he could put his family up for the night.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanchez and their children are from Eastland, Texas, where Mr. Sanchez was employed by the Texas and Pacific Railway company. He told officers he had learned that the uncle whom he had come to visit had moved to some little town near Riverside.

The officers took the family to the Santa Fe bunkhouse where they spent the remainder of the night.

Rapid Gain in Production of Citrus is Predicted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Looking into the future of the citrus industry, the agriculture department saw today prospects of rapidly increasing production and a need for development of new uses and new markets for the fruit.

Repeal of the prohibition amendment, which legalized manufacture of citrus wines and brandies, and growing demand for canned grapefruit hearts and juices, were cited as new outlets.

No Record Likely
Notwithstanding, an "outlook" report prepared by the bureau of agriculture economics said "there seems little likelihood that prices over the next decade will average as high as those of the 10 years, 1919-29."

This report discussed the citrus outlook thus: "The bearing acreage of both fruits (oranges and grapefruit) is now at that point in the production cycle where larger total crops may be expected even though some reduction in total bearing trees were to take place. With only average weather conditions prevailing in the four principal producing areas the combined production of oranges and grapefruit from existing acreage may be expected to exceed 80,000,000 boxes and in a favorable year may go close to 100,000,000 boxes."

"Unless new uses for citrus fruits or wider demand is developed an appreciable portion of such large crops would probably be unmarketable."

Sounder Condition
"The citrus industry as a whole is in that period of readjustment which usually follows rapid expansion of the promotional type, but in this case was hastened by the depression. Adjustment of acreage will probably leave the citrus industry as a whole in a sounder condition than it was prior to 1930, but there seems little likelihood that prices over the next decade will average as high as those of the 10 years, 1919-29."

"Based upon trees now in groves and the probable trend in production capacity, it appears that production during the next 10 years can easily average 15 to 20 per cent above that of the last 10 years, and it is not improbable that it will average considerably higher."

Highway Fund Allocated
More than $90,000 has been allocated to Orange county as its share of California highway projects under the $15,000,000 state program set up by the state, according to County Highway Superintendent Nat Neff.

With several projects submitted, the only ones allocated for this county by the California highway commission were resurfacing a portion of Bolsa avenue and completion of the half mile link of the Imperial highway in this county.

hour, but no damage was reported in citrus growing areas, as trees and fruit are safe in a temperature above 30 degrees.

Orchard heating was not necessary anywhere in the county, although some points in Southern California resorted to that means of protecting their groves, it was reported.

Weather forecasts for today and tonight were for continued clear weather, gentle northwesterly winds and continuation of the cold spell.

No change was noted in barometric pressure for the last 24 hours, according to the Santa Ana Junior college weather bureau, the barometer standing at 29.95 inches. Highest temperature for the past 24 hours was 78 degrees at 2 p. m. yesterday, it was reported, with a southwesterly wind blowing eight miles per hour at 3 p. m.

CHAPMAN'S DEMURRER

Replying to arguments of Frank Drumm, one of the attorneys defending Charles C. Chapman, Fullerton capitalist named defendant in a $1,181,901.47 suit instituted by the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles, H. F. Prince of the legal firm of Gibson, Dun and Crutcher, and Stanley Reinhaus of the Santa Ana firm of Forgy, Reinhaus and Forgy, representing the bank, today were resisting the defense move to prevent the taking of testimony in the case.

Trial of the suit to recover more than a million dollars from Mr. Chapman, alleging stockholders' liability in the failure of the Alexander hotel in Los Angeles, started yesterday before Judge G. K. Scovel in department 3 superior court.

Drumm Argues Long
Mr. Chapman is being defended by the law firm of Drumm, Tucker, Martell and Drumm and Congressman Sam L. Collins.

Mr. Drumm spent the entire session yesterday arguing against taking of testimony, alleging that the complaint, as prepared, does not constitute a cause of action in that it is necessary to establish the liability of the Santa Ysabel Land company, of which Mr. Chapman is said to have owned all stock, before individual liability could be established.

He also contended that, at the best, Mr. Chapman could only be held responsible for a deficiency after foreclosure. At this time, he contended the deficiency has not been established.

In their arguments today, Mr. Prince and Mr. Reinhaus held that the complaint does constitute a cause of action and that objections by Mr. Drumm do not affect the bank's right of recovery, and that the Santa Ysabel Land company is, primarily, liable.

Oil Company Sues to Cancel Lease
Cancellation of a lease and $2500 damages is demanded from the Ensign Oil Company by the Sun Oil Company in a suit started Monday in superior court. The lease involves an oil well in the Huntington Beach town lot field.

According to the complaint, the Sun Oil Company signed an agreement with the Ensign Oil Company in April, 1934, in which the Ensign company agreed to redrill Sun oil wells No. 4 and 5 and return them to production. The Ensign company also agreed to erect a uniform standard derrick on Sun well No. 10. The wells were to be redrilled to a depth of 2700 feet.

In May, 1934, one month after the agreement had been signed, according to the complaint, well No. 10 was completed. Well No. 5 was redrilled and returned to production in October of the same year, but nothing has been done to well No. 4.

The Ensign company, according to the plaintiff Sun Oil Company, has refused either to improve the well or sign a quitclaim deed to the property, and has refused to comply with a legal notice to vacate the property and return the leasing agreement.

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

SH! Deep, dark secrets! We went prospecting yesterday. Asked about Harry Welch's horsehoe tournament at Newport and discovered that the mayors and supervisors are going to meet a worthy foe in the representative of the press association.

Ted Kuchel of Anaheim, we learned, isn't going to represent the Fourth Estate as a shoe-heaver. He learned, we're told, that in the press group he had a pitcher without a peer. Exploits of the entrant down South pitching rings were noised about, and so the press'll be well represented next Saturday.

The entry, we're told confidentially, is Clyde Simmons, Yorba Linda editor.

CLYDE may make things tough for our favorites, Mayor "Mike" Hogue of Brea and Mayor Tom Talbert of Huntington Beach. If what Jim Farquhar, Huntington Beach, says is correct, Clyde is liable to dust off a bunch of councilmen before the tourney's over.

We're sorta divided between Mike and Tom right now. At first we were all for the Brea entrant, but from tales we've been hearing of the athletic prowess of Huntington Beach's pride and joy, looks like a close match. However, we still like the way Mike holds his cigar.

CHECKING up on Huntington Beach and the proposed tree-planting campaign there.

We were told that Anthony Tovatt, hardware merchant, was the best man to contact when talking about trees, so we called on him.

Learned that a big campaign is being planned for the beautification work in Main street and Seventh street. Replacement of almost all trees now on the streets with others, mostly eucalyptus. Other brands of greenery, said Mr. Tovatt, won't grow very successfully in the Huntington Beach area. Been tried, he says.

George Wardwell is still making plans for the beautification work, aided by the city council, Bill Gallienne and the chamber of commerce, and about everyone else in town. They're all enthusiastic.

THE reason we found that Mr. Tovatt should know what he was talking about was because he was largely responsible for the famous forest around the old sugar factory at the beach.

The trees there were first planted in 1911. The plant was the show spot of Huntington Beach and people came from miles around to visit the grounds.

In 1926 the plant was moved away and an oil refinery now is established in the ruins of the once beautiful landscaping masterpiece. Too bad.

WE THOUGHT we'd just slipped out from under whisker contests for awhile, and along comes the Men's club from San Clemente with another.

At San Clemente they're getting ready for the "Days of '49" shindig Nov. 30.

The city's most prominent personages, we hear, are cruising around behind bushy atrocious which would put the original '49ers to shame. We're hoping that they don't have a contest for the most unsanitary beard, like they did in Anaheim. Too hard on the contestants!

Our big worry is what will Bill Holmes, city clerk, look like with a beard? Or Mayor Smith?

PEEKS at a citrus meeting in Placentia last night: George Bates, engineer, who says that he also grows oranges. Harry F. Smith, Fullerton banker, looking interested. LeRoy Lyon, third district supervisor, brought Mrs. Lyon, Louise Jacobson, Placentia rancher. Jim Tuffree, making speeches. Andy Barnhart, village blacksmith, who's also interested in citrus. Jack Prizer, Fullerton, who doesn't like canned orange juice. Harry Easton, new head of the Placentia exchange, defending the California Fruit Growers' exchange. Harrison H. Hale, water man and rancher. Jim Carmichael, real estate from Fullerton. Scotty Muir, famed fisherman, and Toke Aldridge, listening in. Louie Kraemer, also listening. Lots of others.

Esser, Gale Dunstan, Fred Basse and S. A. Miller. Guests substituting were Mrs. P. H. Marshall, Mrs. Wheeler Birdwell and Mrs. William Schmidt.

INCORPORATION COST FOR COSTA MESA IS SOUGHT

COSTA MESA.—The Lion's Den was packed last night when residents discussed advisability and possibility of incorporating the community. The meeting was called by the Costa Mesa chamber of commerce and representatives from many local organizations were present.

It was decided by a vote to have Harold Grauel, president of the chamber, appoint a committee to obtain an estimate of the cost of incorporating municipal government, patterned after Tustin and Placentia. The committee will report its findings at a meeting to be called by the president.

A motion made by Charles Crawford, a member of the chamber, also requested that representatives carry the message of the evening to their respective organizations and bring back an expression from the groups.

President Grauel announced that he will name a committee later and invited all to attend the next chamber meeting Nov. 25.

Thomas Pickrell, Santa Ana attorney, told of legal steps necessary for incorporation. He pointed out advantages the community would derive in fire and police protection through incorporation. It was pointed out at the meeting that there is a plan on foot for "Costa Mesa to be swallowed up by Newport Beach," but that plan was scoffed at by several present. That problem had been brought to a vote and was defeated as it would be again, according to speakers. It was also revealed that Santa Ana had talked of attaching Costa Mesa and again the residents voted an opinion against such a plan.

Many objected to incorporation because they could not bear any increased taxation as many are unable to pay present county taxes.

Included in the speakers were Goss Grabel, C. W. TeWinkle, Le Roy P. Anderson, Mrs. Delores Morrison, Mrs. Gage, Mr. Crowley, Charles Crawford and others.

Column Left!

By FRANK ROGERS

SHORT NOTES ABOUT SPORTING NEWS
FULLERTON'S Arky Vaughan, major league batting champion for the season just past, is $375.23 richer even though he was paid for it. Vaughan was paid for not playing in the world series. Again, like the farmer, he would have made more cash had he played. However, getting $375 for being a member of the team that finished fourth in the National league will make the winter seem much warmer.

Don't overlook North Carolina in those Rose Bowl calculations. The Big Ten squads are always hostile. Notre Dame's Elmer Layden won't let anyone talk Rose Bowl to him yet. We've got three tough games (Southern California, Army and Northwestern—none too tough) and any one of 'em might bowl us over," says he. North Carolina has Duke to worry about.

Short Stuff: Joe Louis may fight Isidor Castanaga in Havana early in January. Lawson Little has authored a piece for the magazines telling how galleries affect golfers. . . . Pilney, Shakespeare and Miller got the headlines, but a guy who you never heard of, Henry Pojman, second string center, got that Ohio State fumble with less than a minute to go. . . . Harry Martin, Virginia quarterback, ran 47 yards against Davidson without making a first down. . . . a series of penalties had set Virginia back until it was third down and 50 yards to go.

Add brevities: At New Haven last week, Dartmouth students pulled down the goal posts before the game with Yale was over. . . . What would have happened if somebody had scored another touchdown? Referee Tom Thorp had it all planned. . . . he would have placed two officials where the uprights should have been, with their arms raised and pointed upward. . . . He said he would use his imagination for the rest of the goal-posts. . . . and let the scoring team kick.

Jack Dempsey has the quickest kayo on record in the heavyweight division. In 1919 he finished Fred Fulton in 14 seconds. . . . Lou Little of Columbia owns 23 suits and never wears the same one two days in succession. . . . That's not paradise, however, unless a guy has a belt to go with each pair of pants.

Add the old argument about whether a good pro team can lick a good college team: Patsy Clark of the Detroit Lions has it all figured out that "only one man on the 1934 Minnesota (national champions) team was good enough for my Lions. . . . That was Stan Koska who went to Brooklyn. . . . We gave Pug Lund a tryout but he wasn't good enough. . . . I think I am justified in saying my team would beat the best college team by at least two touchdowns."

New York hayseed note: (at the pro grid game) "When Ken Strong threw that collateral pass I knew he was all right."

Mike Jacobs, the promotional genius, spends most of his time in the air these days and soon will have as many flying hours as Lindy. . . . Atlantic cities and coaches still insist Penn is the best team in the East. . . . Tab St. Mary's for some fancy work in that game with Fordham Saturday. . . . We've heard of one guy who is betting even money that U. S. C. will lick Stanford. Diabard.

BRUINS THINK OF WILSON

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6. (AP)—The University of California at Los Angeles football team, which beat Stanford and held California's running attack to a few scattered yards, turned its attention today toward the stopping of Bob Wilson, the Southern Methodist star, when the Mustangs gallop into town for an Armistice day encounter.

Wilson, who weighs less than 160 pounds, has led the invading S. M. U. squad through an undefeated season to date and Coach Bill Spaulding's eleven, on the basis of scout reports, will have its hands full if Wilson is to be turned back.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6. (AP)—Yacht race eliminations for eleventh Olympiad at Berlin probably will be held in Southern California, President William Bartholomae, jr., of the Southern California six-meter class sailing association said today.

Approval of the North American Yacht Racing union and from sailors of the Atlantic coast has been given, Bartholomae said.

The University of California at Los Angeles football team wears silk "molesters."

GALES IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK. (AP)—Accompanied by 120 California supporters, the St. Mary's football team reached New York aboard a special train early today for its intercollegiate game with Fordham at the Polo Grounds Saturday. Coach Edward (Slip) Madigan brought a squad of 33 players—three complete teams—east to meet the Rams. All were reported in good shape.

PREP SPORTS PROGRAM ON FOR DEC. 7

Saints and Hillers Will Represent South; Long Beach Will Be Host

By PAUL WRIGHT

Seldom—if ever—has anyone accused Santa Ana of rooting for San Diego in football. Nevertheless, the Saints will be "pulling" for the Hillers in no uncertain terms on December 7 when the Coast Preparatory league's four schools conduct their first annual sports carnival on Burcham field, Long Beach.

Final plans for the novel event, expected to draw 10,000 spectators, were drafted in a meeting of principals and athletic directors at San Diego yesterday.

APPROVE SCHEDULES
Double rounds will be conducted in baseball and tennis as well as basketball in the Coast Preparatory league next semester, it was voted at the meeting in San Diego yesterday. The new arrangement is due to the reduced membership in the Coast league which at present comprises only Santa Ana, Long Beach, San Diego and Alhambra. Pasadena and Glendale withdrew last spring.

Paired With San Diego
San Diego and Santa Ana of the "south" will compete against Long Beach and Alhambra of the "north" in four 16-minute periods of football for the carnival championship under the following schedule (combined scores will determine which section wins):

First quarter—Santa Ana vs. Long Beach.
Second quarter—San Diego vs. Alhambra.
Third quarter—Santa Ana vs. Alhambra.
Fourth quarter—San Diego vs. Long Beach.

There will be a 20-minute intermission between halves, at which time each school will present a special stunt. The football competition has been billed for 1:30 p. m.

A cross-country race, with one and one-half miles tentatively set as the length, will open the program at 10:30 a. m., according to present plans. Tumbling and other gymnastic acts will be arranged.

Substitutes for Play-offs
As previously announced, the carnival has been planned as a substitute for the annual C. I. F. football play-offs which the Coast league does not prefer to enter because of unsatisfactory financial returns. The schools expect a good profit from the Long Beach event.

Parent-Teacher associations, sponsoring the carnival, will receive 10 per cent of the net gate receipts. The rest will be divided equally among the four competing schools. Long Beach has "guaranteed" 5,000 spectators of its own. Santa Ana, San Diego and Alhambra hope to attract an additional 5,000.

Tickets will sell for 25, 40 and 60 cents.
Bill Is Chairman
General chairman will be Walter Bell of the Long Beach physical education department. Reece H. Greene, Santa Ana; Dave Fryer, Alhambra; Mike Morrow, San Diego; and Mr. Bell will serve as football officials.

Reece H. Greene's Saints, working out daily in Andrews gym, will begin organized grid Monday for their 1935-36 opener, tentatively slated for two weeks from Friday. The opponent probably will be Hollywood. Other warm-up games will be arranged with Fullerton, Orange and Tustin.

He Rode in 1884 'Darby' Old Trainer Tells Horse Stories

By FRANK ROGERS

Journal Sports Editor
Fifty-one years ago he was "up" on a steel-nerved horse named Powhattan ridin' hell bent for leather in the tenth running of the Kentucky Derby. (By setting an old argument for me by telling it "early.")

Fifty years ago he came to the old "Lucky" Baldwin ranch at Santa Anita and worked on that pioneer sportsman's horses. There is a fine, modern race plant there now.

Eighteen years before he came to California he had been born in the house his father had built in Warren Valley, Ky.—that's almost another story, though and I'll tell you about it later on.

Jockey To Scholar
He is Dow Williams, one-time jockey, trainer of horses, "amateur architect and inventor," gentleman and scholar. He has a college diploma, "somewhere around here."

Dow lives in Santa Anita now, working at the Elks club. His horse riding and training days are over—but he still follows the sport and loves to talk to you about it. For that matter, he'll talk to you about anything—Roosevelt (he doesn't like him), Joe Louis (he says he's the greatest boxer the world has ever known) or Leland Stanford, another pioneer figure. That's what I did—talked to him about everything I could think of and then left only because it was dinner time.

"Come in," he said readily, hearing my steps even before he knew who it was. "Pull up that chair there and sit down." Then Dow started talking—without any trace of accent although he is colored—and I just sat and wrote down as much as I could.

Didn't Win Race
Dow didn't win that Kentucky Derby 51 years ago. But he didn't mind. Loftin, a stable mate of his mount, was a close second to Buchanan, the winner. That, in 1884, was just after Dow "worked for Mr. Churchill." He later trained

Money Winners
"I shipped a string of 20 horses 3,000 miles to Saratoga Springs—for Lucky Baldwin. They were all California stock bred—no fancy selections. Well, we topped the winning list there for three years."

When Southern California horse racing was being held where Exposition park now stands near the Los Angeles Coliseum, Dow was training such great horses as Rey El Santa Anita, Los Angeles and Tenny.

Rey El Santa Anita won the American Derby at Washington Park, Ill., in 1894, collecting a cash purse of $19,750.

"I trained Rey El Santa Anita as a 2-year-old," he recalled. "Later that horse was sold to England and became known as the world's greatest pony."

"That horse Los Angeles beat the best in her class. . . . Hanover, Farenza. . . all of 'em except The Savior and she didn't meet him." Later I looked up some old records and found that Los Angeles won the Saratoga Cup in 1891.

Tenny Won, Too
"Then there was Tenny. She was a swiftness, but a great horse. (I looked up Tenny, too. Tenny won the historical Brooklyn Handicap in 1891.) There was Cineloa, too."

"But Los Angeles was the best of all. Everyone called her 'the queen of the turf.' In one year she won $97,000—and that was when $5,000 was a big purse. She won the Congress Hall stakes three times and one year after she had won this race she won a three-mile dash in the same week. That was in 1883."

Dow thinks Southern California will have the greatest winter racing season "ever held any place." There is perfect sentiment in California to make this the

WM. SHEARER RETURNS TO FACE TRIAL

State Cashier, Suspect in Funds Shortage, to Make Guilty Plea

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6. (AP)—William B. Shearer, former cashier in the state treasurer's office, returned to California today in custody of District Attorney Otis Babcock of Sacramento, to face charges he misappropriated $24,000 in state funds.

Shearer arrived by train from Texas where he was arrested.

"I was not running away from anything," Shearer told reporters here. "I went to Texas on vacation and I went away for no other reason. I had some investments in Texas and I wanted to raise some money on them. I'm glad to be back, but I would rather not make further statements."

Mr. Babcock said Shearer indicated to him he would plead guilty.

"He wants to take whatever sentence he may get and have it over with as soon as possible," Mr. Babcock said.

CONTEST TAKEN BY EDISON CO.

Scoring again as a national leader in public utility advertising, the Southern California Edison company has been awarded first place for 1935 in Public Utility Ad-Views annual Socrates' point score competition. The company last year won third place. Announcement of the first place award was made yesterday to R. G. Kenyon, advertising manager of the Edison company, by Public Utility Ad-Views executives.

In advancing from third to first place during the year, the Edison company topped utilities of all classifications, electric, gas and street railway companies, and again as last year ranked first in the rating of the exclusively electric utilities participating in the annual competition.

Tabulating the points scored by the Edison company during the 12 months, the board of nationally known advertising executives which made the award characterized the company's advertising program as outstanding for consistency, versatility and its colorful effectiveness. Several of the major sales campaigns conducted during the year won special commendation of the judges. Through its efforts to build dealer business, the company has earned the distinction of being a promotion leader in the utility field, the award announcement said.

Newspaper advertising has been used as the company's principal medium during the year.

REQUEST FOR LIQUOR STORE'S SIGN GRANTED

Because there is no legal way to prevent hanging electric signs by liquor stores, Councilman Plummer Bruns Monday night moved that the request of Louis Weinberg for permission to hang a sign at the L and W liquor store be granted. The request was granted subject to final determination of an injunction suit now before the state supreme court, in which hanging of signs containing more than 720 square inches is being tested.

Mr. Bruns recalled that the council had agreed unofficially that no permits would be granted for liquor signs, but explained that investigation showed there is no legal way to prevent hanging them.

The council Monday night also granted permission to Patricia Cochran to hang an electric sign for the Rossmore cafeteria at 410 North Sycamore street.

SIX HIGH SCHOOL BOYS JAILED ON THEFT CHARGES

Six Garden Grove high school boys, ranging in age from 14 to 17, were arrested Monday and confined in the juvenile home on charges of petty theft. They have been assertedly admitted to deputy sheriffs that they had engaged in a series of petty burglaries in the Garden Grove high school.

According to Deputy Sheriff Walter Dungan, the six boys pilfered lockers belonging to fellow students and stole pocket books and papers. The son of Supervisor John Mitchell was one of the victims, and Mr. Mitchell signed a petty theft complaint resulting in the arrest of four of the boys. The other complaints were signed by the arresting officer.

BOYS 'SHOOT UP' COTTAGE

Mirror, Lamp Are Targets

Two Costa Mesa boys are faced with the possibility of arrest next Saturday when Mrs. Ida Wilson, Los Angeles, owner of a small cabin at Costa Mesa, comes to Santa Ana for the purpose of signing a complaint charging malicious mischief.

A week ago last Sunday, the two boys stopped at the Wilson cabin to get a drink of water. The place was unoccupied, and the boys forced open the rear door and entered.

One had a shotgun. The first thing they saw was a large mirror on a bureau in the bedroom. It made a good target, and was shattered in short order by a blast from the gun. Next they found a floor lamp, and it also was used for a target. Evidently the boys had seen moving pictures where the comedian broke dishes on the walls, because the cupboard was emptied of a complete set of china, and fragments of the broken dishes were scattered all over the house.

Yesterday Deputy Sheriff James Workman investigated the case. He had two empty .410 gauge shotgun shells found in the ransacked house. Deputy Workman learned that a boy in the neighborhood owned a gun similar to the one used in the damaged house. He obtained an empty shell from it and found that it compared with the two found in Mrs. Wilson's home. He talked to the owner of the gun, who confessed to having shot up the Wilson home, and implicated a second youth, who also admitted having been present.

SANTA ANA COUPLE FACE CHARGE AFTER 'FAKE ROBBERY'

Charges of attempted petty theft against Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bedard, 809 West Highland street, Santa Ana, were expected to be filed today as the result of an allegedly "fake robbery" stunt uncovered by Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford.

When Mrs. Bedard assertedly told police her wrist watch had been stolen and that she had later found it in a pawnshop, Officer Wolford went with her to the shop and she identified her watch. The pawnshop proprietor said he had purchased the watch from a "Mr. Miller" of Los Angeles.

After being questioned at his home by Officer Wolford, Mr. Bedard confessed to having sold the watch to the pawn broker, police said. The pair admitted they had hoped to get the watch back without having to pay for it.

BOARD IN FUTURE MUST SIGN TRUCK RENTAL PACTS

Complying with requirements of the state highway commission, relative to rental of equipment to be paid for from gasoline tax funds, all truck renting agreements in the future will be signed by three members of the board of supervisors and become public records. To clear the path for adoption of this policy, the board established 50 cents per hour as the minimum wage to be paid truck drivers on rented equipment. The minimum rent for trucks is set up by the state railroad commission and ranges from 85 cents per hour to $2.55.

The action was taken at the request of County Highway Superintendent Nat Neff who told the board that allocation of third-quarter gasoline tax money to many Southern California counties had been held up because these agreements were not available.

The state is requiring copies of such rental agreements with the annual report of expenditures of gasoline tax funds, Mr. Neff said. Tuesday and Thursday, 7 to 9; shops, machine and wood, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 7 to 9; forge and welding, Monday and Wednesday, 7 to 9.

STUDENTS GIVE OWN 'STUNTS'

Original programs went on the stage of Winar auditorium yesterday morning when boys' service clubs of Santa Ana Junior college presented their annual assembly.

A Hill Billy act was presented by the Junior Lions with James Doyles, Bill Woodward, Franklin Guthrie, Tom Tradewell, Vic Rowland, Wayne Wilhite, Charles Kiser, John Henry and George Snokelburg taking part.

Los Gauchos pledged did a satire on a jaycee class, those participating being John McBride, Mervyn Hallman, Matt Brown, Dave Beall, Dave Withall, Louie Clem, Perry Planchon, Oliver Dwyer, Delbert Tucker, Charles McIntyre, Bob Browning, Jack Filer and Robert Forcey.

With Bob Bradley in the role of the "major" Buccaneers put on an amateur show. Contestants were Bill and Dave Sheppard, Les Minder, Madden Dietrich, Clarence Riggs, Charles Anderson, Clair Anderson, Neil McDaniel, Armand Hanson and Bill Dolan.

Announced as a serious operation with four boys in black face doing a "Mills brothers" accompaniment, singing "Hold that skit" the skit of the Bachelors hit a hilarious note. Participants included Jim Barry, Carl Benson, Art Craft, Byron Nott, Nelson Kogler, John Lenhardt, Fred Lentz, Leonard Lockhart, Oliver McCatrer, Harold Mosiman, Dave Phoenix, Harold Rash, Charles Robinson, Bill Shields, Walter Smith, Bob Spray and Jack Wilson.

Whether or not F. A. McFarren, Santa Ana, was in the traffic lane at Washington and Main streets last May 30 when struck by an automobile driven by D. T. Bauman, is the problem to be decided by Presiding Judge James L. Allen who will give his decision in Mr. McFarren's $15,000 damage suit Friday at 2 p. m.

Mr. McFarren declares that he was in the traffic lane when the Bauman car struck him, and Mr. Bauman maintains that he was 35 feet beyond the safety zone and stepped from behind another automobile directly into the path of his car.

Started several months ago, Mr. McFarren's damage action against Mr. Bauman and Samuel Rothman, owner of the car, came to trial Monday before Judge Allen with Mr. Bauman, an employee of a stage line in Los Angeles, appearing as his own attorney. B. Z. McKinney was counsel for Mr. McFarren.

Mr. McFarren told the court he was in the pedestrian lane when struck and hurried to the street by the Bauman car. He was severely injured and taken to a hospital. James H. Cruze, principal witness for Mr. Bauman, testified the injured man was at least 35 feet away from the safety zone and stepped directly into the path of the car which was traveling at a low rate of speed.

'SPIRIT OF '76' MEETING SLATED

The Spirit of '76, a patriotic organization founded in Santa Ana by Paul Andres, 1017 North Van Ness street, will hold its first meeting in the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. The organization, comprising a membership of 50, including judges, attorneys and Santa Ana merchants, comprises the parent order of what Mr. Andres hopes will become a nationwide organization.

"The Spirit of '76 stands for the constitution of the United States, for Democratic-Republican forms of government as developed under the constitution, and for the flag of our country," said Mr. Andres. "The Spirit of '76 opposes anarchy, bolshevism, communism, fascism, and all other forms of 'isms' brought here from the old world by misguided dupes who threaten our liberty and even our civilization."

BOY, 3, RUNS INTO TRUCK, INJURED

Garner Jordan, 3½, suffered minor head injuries late Monday when he ran into the side of a car driven by Mrs. Frances T. Jones, 25, of 1133 East Central street, Balboa Beach. The accident occurred on East Broadway, in Costa Mesa, near the boy's home.

According to a report filed with highway patrolmen, Mrs. Jones was proceeding at approximately 20 miles an hour when she noticed a group of children playing at the side of the road. One of them, she said, suddenly ran directly in front of her car. She immediately put on the brakes and cranked the wheels of her car to avoid running over the child, who struck the side of her car and was knocked to the ground.

'RIDE' VICTIM FOUND ALONG ROADSIDE

Officers are investigating the injury of Harold McCullough, 30, of Riverside, found beside the road on highway 101 just south of Anaheim, yesterday afternoon. Highway Patrol Officer Oscar Kelly said McCullough, after being taken to the county hospital, told him he had been picked up and taken for a ride in a roadster, going out of Anaheim. The victim said he had $7 in his pocket at the time, but it was missing when he reached the hospital.

COUNTY ZONING LAW PRESENTED TO SUPERVISORS; HEARING SET

HENDERSON IS HONORED BY TEACHERS

Gift of Gold Watch Is Almost Too Much for School Official

"Ooh, that's lovely." And when it took the city superintendent of schools a long 15 minutes to find a framed "Henderson come-back," the City Teachers' league at its dinner meeting last night in Veterans' hall decided that the gold pocket watch it had presented him was giving the new state director of the National Education association a real thrill.

More than 225 educators had gathered at the NEA dinner honoring Frank A. Henderson on his recent election to the California directorship.

After the watch had been presented by Ferris H. Scott, president of the league, and Mr. Henderson had begun a discussion of his work for the year, the honored guest suddenly twinkled and in grandiose, political oratory remarked:

His Wit Comes Back
"I want you teachers to know I'll do all I can to get your salaries raised next year."

An appreciative chuckle met the statement and the banqueters knew that Mr. Henderson had hit his usual stride as an after-dinner speaker. But they were pleased also to know that he had been deeply enough moved by the watch that a good many minutes had ticked off before he could completely attain "top" form.

Tells NEA Aims
Membership increases and general promotion of the NEA were set forth as primary aims of Mr. Henderson's office.

"Board members in this city have long been awarded NEA memberships by the school system by appropriation from public funds," Mr. Henderson said. "Parent-Teacher associations might also well honor their presidents by extending complimentary memberships to them."

Progress in educational technique and methods is reported fully in the Journal of the NEA, the superintendent said, and is a prolific source of information for educators.

Elementary schools of the city are 100 per cent in their membership, Mr. Henderson declared. The unaffiliated teachers come from the secondary schools. Of the 271 certificated teachers of the city, 203 are members of the NEA, he added.

S. F. Wants Session
"California was second in the United States in the number of members last year," Mr. Henderson said. "We'd like to make it first. The percentage of members is to figure in selecting future convention cities, and San Francisco is eager to get the conclave in 1938 when the bridge across the bay will be completed. I think we should do all we can to help secure it."

Other guests at the dinner included Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Eugene West Jones, national president of the kindergarten primary educational department, and her secretary, Florence K. Hampton, Los Angeles; Hurley W. Lyons, Pasadena, national president of the elementary principals' association; Albert Shaw, regional director of the classroom teachers' department; board of education members, and their wives.

During the dinner hour, a trio

'Bend Down, Sister' Is Old Tune to These Local Women Who Exercise Once a Week

BY VIRGINIA SMITH

When some Tin Pan Alley wizard pounded out a song a few years ago about "Bend Down, Sister," there was a good-sized group of Santa Ana women who decided they'd been born a good many years too late. They'd been doing that all on their own decision for a good many years and already knew the aches and pains of sore muscles.

About 10 years ago, several mothers happened to talk to several other mothers and they decided that they'd read all the books on proper female decorum. Mothers were always supposed to be self-contained so they could control their children and to be mild and dignified in all their actions. But they felt they could follow all the rules a lot more easily if once a week they could sneak away from the house for an hour and get out for some boisterous exercise and a good yell.

At that time Mrs. R. R. Russick, at present police matron, was teaching a class in gymnastics at the Y. W. C. A. where they could go for their daily doses. Funds gave out for financing the project at the "Y," but the women decided they'd carry on by themselves, if Mrs. Russick would lead them.

Every Tuesday Morning
They found a roomy barn on Ball road where they could have their class, then took to the recreation hall at Irvine park, and for the last three years have used the gymnasium of the First Methodist church every Tuesday morning from 10 to 11 o'clock.

Summertime they park to Irvine park or one of the closer playgrounds for out-of-door exercises, games and pot-luck lunches.

Ages start at about 30, ranging from there past the 50 mark.

Among the "old-timers" in the club are Mrs. A. F. Granas, Miss Clara Richards, Mrs. Ray Snyder, Miss Percie Head, Mrs. Sam Butler, Mrs. Edna Macander, Mrs. Harry Gardner and Mrs. Carrie Welch, of Santa Ana; and Mrs. C. C. Vogle, Mrs. Walter Walton and Mrs. Carrie Dwyer, of Garden Grove.

Recent additions are Mrs. Herbert Rankin, Mrs. Charles McIntyre and Mrs. Clara Welch.

A bulge or shoulder ache is forgotten once the gymnasts get in a game. Yesterday they were giving a hefty toss to a volleyball that caught a much younger gal in unsuspected spots and moments on several occasions.

Grandmother Active Player
One white-haired woman who boasts a grandchild was depended upon as a steady defense of the team. Some of them took two hands to get the ball over the net, but it was a fierce volley before they gave up on a play.

Squels and shouts of "good shot" followed a smart play. If it took a good shove to get the ball out of a tight place, the woman in the way got the shove and liked it. Only once did a player forget her tomboy role and let slip an "excuse me" when she failed to make the shot.

On the sidelines sat Mrs. Dwyer of Garden Grove, who takes her exercise with a thrill out of the exercises.

Play hour over, the women bundled into cars and were off to Irvine park for a picnic. A round more of after-lunch exercise and they settled down to another week of being mother and housewives with only a sly twinkle to give them away.

COOK SCHOOL TO FEATURE 4 EXPERTS

Hazel B. Dodd, Marian Manners, Prudence Penny to Be Here

With a galaxy of prizes and program features scheduled, The Journal has billed the most elaborate cooking school ever held in Orange county for next week, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings, from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock, in the Broadway theater.

Hazel Blair Dodd, home economics director of the Los Angeles Herald and Express; Marian Manners, director of the home service bureau of the Los Angeles Times, and Mrs. Norma V. Young, the Prudence Penny of the Los Angeles Examiner, and home service director of that paper, will appear with Mrs. Margaret S. Lackland, home economics director of the Southern Counties Gas company, on the program.

To Give Own Recipes
They will prepare their favorite recipes, demonstrating cooking technique for which they have become famous throughout the Southland. Their dishes will be made in the model kitchen which is to be set up on the stage of the theater and will be accompanied by complete instructions for preparing, together with detailed recipes.

Mrs. Dodd is to come on Wednesday, Miss Manners on Thursday and Mrs. Young on Friday.

A specialist, herself, Mrs. Lackland, will preside throughout the entire series of cooking school lessons.

Special Prizes
Thanksgiving dinner won't be a problem for attendants at the cooking school. Mrs. Lackland, with the assistance of the Los Angeles newspaper home economists, has planned a complete Thanksgiving dinner at current Santa Ana prices. Recipes for each item of the meal, the entire menu and the itemized cost of each dish will be given to the homemakers.

As a range a day will be awarded as a special prize, and on Friday an Electrolux refrigerator is being presented a cooking school attendant by dealers of the community.

JOBS ASKED FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

County cooperation in the job placement of young men and women on jobs under the National Youth Administration was requested of the board of supervisors Tuesday by Sigurd Nylander representing NYA in California.

Mr. Nylander urged the county to employ these young men and women as clerks, statisticians and in various other capacities in all departments of the county government. The matter will be taken under advisement, he was informed.

NOVEL GREETING FOR AIR SHOW VISITORS
LONG BEACH.—Bernardine Lewis, daring aviatrix, has a novel welcome planned for arrivals to the Women's Air show here Nov. 10 and 11. Miss Lewis, noted as a stunt flier, will greet them flying upside down.

ASKS MORE MONEY TO SUPPORT CHILDREN
LOS ANGELES.—King Vidor, film director-producer, was called upon today in a suit lodged by his former wife, Eleanor Boardman, star of the silent screen, to assume full support of the couple's two children. Asserting she is unable to continue paying $250 a month for the children's care, the amount decided when she and Vigor were divorced in 1933, Miss Boardman asked that he increase his $250 contribution to a total of $950 a month.

Prunty, two children, Lois Elaine and John Welbert, and her mother, Mrs. Laura E. McIntire.

ROYAL SCION OF ENGLAND MARRIES

Gloucester Weds Scot Girl; Wales Is Only Bachelor in Family

LONDON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The Duke of Gloucester, tall soldier son of the king and queen of England, and Lady Alice Montagu Douglas-Scott, 33-year-old Scot aristocrat, were married today in a quiet ceremony in the crimson and gold chapel of Buckingham palace.

Lady Alice, dressed in pearl-shaded satin, and the 35-year-old duke, resplendent in the gold-faced blue tunic, scarlet breeches and black-topped boots of the Tenth Hussars, were pronounced man and wife by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

With the plighting of this troth, the Prince of Wales became the British royal family's only bachelor.

No Pageantry

This second royal wedding within a year—a ceremony stripped of pageantry because of the recent death of the bride's father, the Duke of Buccleuch—was in sober contrast to the brilliant marriage last November of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina.

Mellow sunlight flooded the palace chapel during the ceremony, bringing into brilliant relief the colorful uniforms and rich dresses of the 125 persons assembled.

Behind the Duke of Gloucester stood his two supporters, the Prince of Wales in the uniform of colonel of the Welsh Guards and the Duke of York in the uniform of colonel of the Scots Guards.

King George wore a field marshal's uniform, and Queen Mary, a jewel-blue chiffon velvet gown.

Eight Bridesmaids
Beside the king and queen were the recalled King George of Greece and Queen Maud of Norway. The bride's mother, the dowager Duchess of Buccleuch, sat in the balcony usually occupied by the king and queen during divine services.

The congregation rose as the bride entered the chapel shortly before 11:30 a. m. and joined the Duke of Gloucester at the altar rail. The eight bridesmaids remained 12 paces behind the couple.

The Bishop of London began the service promptly at 11:30 a. m., and the Archbishop of Canterbury then took up the service, receiving Lady Alice's hand from her brother, the new Duke of Buccleuch.

Congregation Sings
After the marriage vows, prayer and blessing, the congregation sang the 67th Psalm, following which the bride and groom knelt before the altar as the precentor of the chapel said responses.

The ceremony was completed with prayers by the primus of the Scottish Episcopal church, singing of hymns, an address by the Archbishop of Canterbury and a short blessing.

The public massed before Buckingham palace, after seeing the bride drive from her home in Grosvenor Place to the grand entrance in a black, red and gold royal coach, before the ceremony, had its first view of the newlyweds at 12:18 p. m., when they stepped out onto a palace balcony and waved in responses to cheers.

Honeymoon at Kettering
The party re-entered the palace for a wedding breakfast, after which the royal couple was to leave in the afternoon for a honeymoon at Broughton Hall, Kettering, one of the Buccleuch family homes.

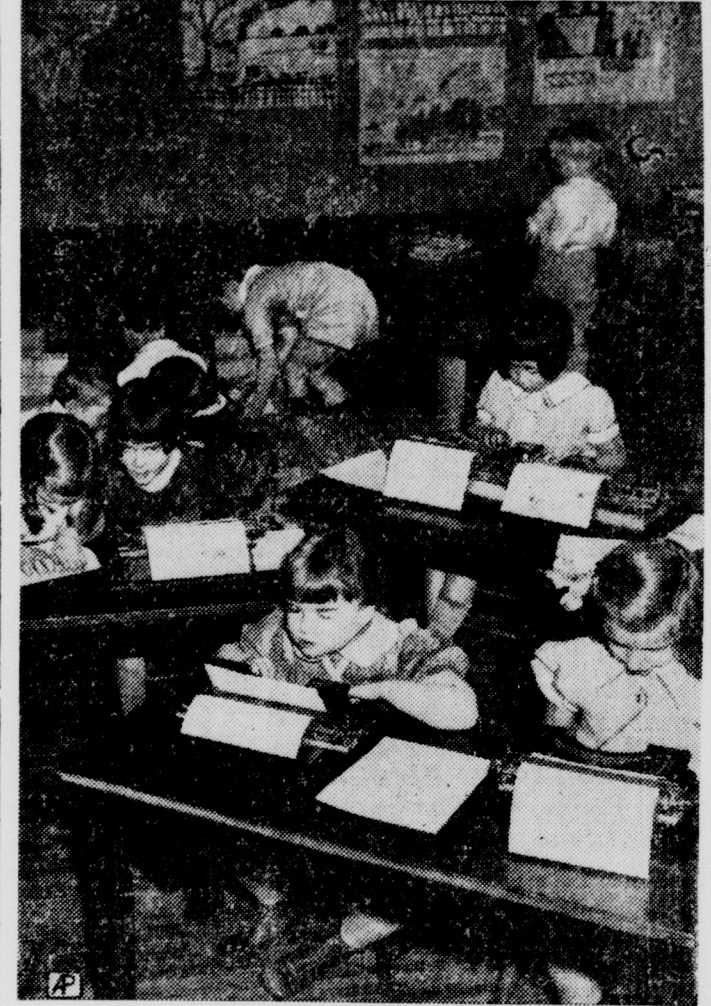

Lady Alice, the athletic type of Scotswoman, small and finely featured, wore a bridal veil of tulle and a halo headdress of orange blossoms, studded with diamonds. Her gown, with a silky satin finish, was of simple design, the silhouette showing form-fitting lines with fullness at the hem. A scarf sash draped around her waist, long tight sleeves came to a point over her hands, and three gatherings at the back caused the material to fall in three folds.

To land a balloon on the deck of a vessel, Without getting snagged in a smokestack or trellis, Is surely a feat that will tax Puffy's skill.

It looks very dangerous, but try it he will.

'School Sickness' Is Real Disease; Due to Pressure

Keeping pace with the new steps in education, Horace Mann school at Teachers college, Columbia university, has long been battling the danger of "pressure" on children. There's no evidence of "school sickness" here, where children in the first, second and third grades are seen at work at their typewriters.

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—The health specialists are concentrating their attention on a newly diagnosed disease which is peculiarly a product of the schools.

It is "school sickness" which recently has been definitely identified as a nerve illness brought about by "pressure" on the more or less sensitive child. Dr. James F. Rogers, consultant in hygiene of the United States office of education, says "even tuberculosis will not work such havoc with the child save in the final stages."

Illness Is Real
The disease is characterized by irritability, restlessness, anxiety and a highly emotional state. The child usually has a poor appetite, he sleeps badly and may have night terrors. The symptoms begin soon after school commences and grow worse as the term advances. They are aggravated, physicians say, by mental examinations and by athletic contests.

Dr. Rogers says that in many school systems children no two of whom are alike even if they are twins) are expected to pass through the same courses at the same speed or be labelled "D," "dull," "retarded" or "inferior."

Preventive Told
"The more sensitive child, who cannot keep up the pace in one or more subjects, does his utmost under the well-intended stimulus and the result is an illness as real as measles and unfortunately far more drawn out and full of misery," he said.

To prevent this disease, some

SCENE CHANGED FOR DANCE

The policeman's ball, originally scheduled to be held in the American Legion hall next Saturday night, will be held in the Valencia ball room on highway 101, two miles north of the Santa Ana city limits. Chief of Police Floyd Howard said today that the change was necessary because of the unexpected number of tickets already sold. He said that present indications are that the American Legion hall would not be large enough to accommodate the crowd expected to attend the affair.

Officer Charles Neer, in charge of arrangements for the affair, today announced that the Joe Keith orchestra had been selected for the occasion. All officers will be in dress uniform, and free orange juice will be one of the features of the evening.

health specialists have suggested that the child's report card bear only the remarks "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory." Satisfactory would mean that the child was doing as well as could be expected taking into consideration his age, mentality, health, degree of social adjustment in the school room and emotional poise.

Pinchle, 500, and bridge will be played. Mrs. Nora Wilson is in charge of arrangements and T. G. Crossley will head the refreshments committee.

Tickets can be secured from the Bristol drug store, Mrs. Wilson announced.

MASTER PLAN JOINED WITH ORDINANCE

Use of Private Lands Would Be Regulated Under New Scheme

Orange county's master plan, as prepared by the county planning commission and F. Deming Tilton, advisor to the group, was presented yesterday to the board of supervisors who set 10 a. m., Nov. 26 as the time for public hearing on the proposed zoning law.

The plan was discussed by the supervisors and members of the planning commission at lunch yesterday prior to its formal presentation to the board.

Regulatory Plan
It was pointed out that the master plan is a statement of standards and principals relating to county growth and development, and correlated plans of highways, parks, districts, public buildings, subdivisions, railroads and any other orderly, economical improvement of county territory. The master plan is made applicable only in areas where districting plans have been approved.

The master plan, to be included in an ordinance proposed for passage by the supervisors, is a regulatory measure governing the uses of private lands. It classifies property by districts, designates residential districts of several types and commercial and industrial areas.

The plan also establishes minimum widths for yards about dwellings, establishes building heights and establishes the size of lots permissible in the various districts. These detailed regulations governing the uses of land will become effective only upon adoption of an official map of districts.

Has 11 Classifications
It is planned that the only limited section of the county, probably the South Laguna coast area, will come under provisions of the planning ordinance at first and have an official district map prepared and approved. The remainder of the county will be completely free of provisions of the ordinance except that it will be designated as an unclassified district.

The planning ordinance, as set up by Mr. Tilton and approved by the planning commission, provides for 11 land classifications. These classifications are: Estates, small farms, mountain estates, single family residence, group dwelling, apartment, local business, general business, light industrial, unrestricted and roadside agricultural districts.

FRANKLIN P. T. A. BENEFIT IS FRIDAY

Whatever the card-player likes best can be his choice at the benefit party which Franklin Parent-Teacher association is sponsoring at Franklin school Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the kindergarten room.

Pinchle, 500, and bridge will be played. Mrs. Nora Wilson is in charge of arrangements and T. G. Crossley will head the refreshments committee.

Tickets can be secured from the Bristol drug store, Mrs. Wilson announced.

Days of Cork Plaster, Beauty Pots, Snuff Boxes Told by Jr. Ebell Speaker

Huntington Libraries Theme

Earl Rowland Addresses Clubwomen; Business Hour is Crowded

A vivid picture of 18th century England with its cork plaster, snuff boxes, beauty pots and fragile lace handkerchiefs was given Santa Ana Junior Ebell clubwomen last evening in the Ebell clubhouse lounge by Earl Rowland, art lecturer who discussed "The Paintings in the Huntington Library."

The business session, in which Miss Nan Mead presided, was an especially busy one for the clubwomen.

"The Huntington gallery is a bit of the 18th century, carried half-way round the world and set down in Southern California," Mr. Rowland told his audience.

"Many of the paintings in the gallery date back to that colorful historical period when a man was known not by the company he kept, but by the letters he wrote. The speaker read a letter of the period and one of the present time, by way of contrast.

"Lacking photography, people in the 18th century had to have their portraits painted. Sir Joshua Reynolds was the greatest painter of the time, so one had one's portrait done by him, and then copied by lesser artists," the speaker said. He also told of various paintings outstanding in the gallery, including Gainsborough's "Blue Boy" and "Pinky," and other pictures.

In the business hour, the following new members were introduced: Mrs. Joe Knox and Misses Ruth Baker and Barbara Dunton from Girls' Ebell, and Mesdames Arthur Wade, Herbert Stroschein, Frank Pierce and Quentin Matzen and Misses Martha Wallingford, Betty Wiswall, Charlotte Sullivan, Muriel Matzen, Ruth Owens, Elizabeth Watson, Mary Saulsberry and Harriet Gruettner.

Reports were given by Mrs. Charles Webber, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Smith, sewing chairman; Mrs. Burt Zaiser, curator; Mrs. W. C. Leitch, social chairman; Mrs. Albert Harvey, on the Orange county Forum; Mrs. Q. L. Hardy, membership; Mrs. Robert Guild, News Letter; Mrs. Fred Rowland, senior programs; Mrs. J. Russell Wilson, southern district juniors convalesce; Mrs. Charles E. McDaniel, juniors dance; Mrs. Ed Clarke, tuberculosis seals, and Mrs. Kemper Taylor, constitutional additions. Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Louise Norton and Mrs. Robert Wade worked out the accepted additions pertinent to duties of standing committee chairmen, addition of a scholarship, the evening, making the curator an officer and reducing the board from 14 to 11 members.

Mrs. McDaniel, jr., told plans for the juniors dance slated for Saturday evening, Nov. 23.

A tea concluded the evening. Mrs. Fred Rowland and Mrs. Don Park presided at a prettily-appointed table.

Marian Martin Introduces Contrast Note In Matron's Frock

Scrap From a Gardener's Scrapbook

By IDA D. DEAKINS

I know after the grand rain we had everyone will be inspired to do some gardening. The first fall rains start many seeds (weeds included), and in a few weeks many little plants will be ready to transplant.

If you plant your larkspur seeds now you will have lovely spring bouquets. With your larkspur plant calliopsis, the blue and yellow are a pretty combination and the plants are about the same heights. Other seeds to plan now are centaurea, candy-tuft, scabiosa, cloukia and godetia. These are all annuals.

One year I planted lavender candy-tuft together with the yellow annual chrysanthemum, and had a beautiful bed for weeks. Candy-tuft is one of my very favorite annuals. It's pretty purple, lavender, orchid, pink and white. It is a fine cut flower and combines well with other flowers.

My annual phlox has re-seeded itself and soon the plants will be ready to re-set. I am going to arrange my bed of phlox as I have had it this past summer, with the perennial baby's breath. They were lovely companions all season.

I have another good word to say for the perennial asters (Michaelmas daisies). They withstood the gusts of wind better than anything else in the garden and are still supplying me with cut flowers. So far I've not seen any pests on them.

Very soon now I must re-set my rehmannia. Dozens of plants have started from the roots of the mother plants and from six plants I had last spring, I have at least 100. Rehmannia is a very showy plant, the bloom somewhat resembling foxgloves and the foliage a pretty, warm green.

The plumbago larpentae that I have mentioned so many times has another good feature that I am sure I did not tell you about. My plants now look as if they had just been brought from the East, as the leaves have turned a glowing crimson.

WEDDING DATE TOLD BY HELEN LUKENS AT SOCIETY MEET

Double rows of cards were at each guest's place at the meeting of the Young Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church Monday night.

Not only did a place card tell their name, but beside them were pictures of Miss Helen Lukens and Minor Warne, announcing their wedding date as Dec. 7.

Miss Lukens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lukens of South Sullivan, and Mr. Warne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Warne, 326 East Bishop street.

The dinner was the annual candle-lighting ceremony at which the thank-offering was made. Miss Elizabeth Millen was in charge of the program. Talks were given by Miss Jean Hoy, Miss Margaret Kelly, Miss Elizabeth Heemstra, Mrs. D. C. Dunbar, Mrs. William Hill and Mrs. P. E. McLeod. The dinner had been arranged by Miss Mildred Lukens and Miss Jane McBurney.

Chrysanthemums and cantonia asters were used on the tables with orange nut cups. Thanksgiving cut-outs adorned the walls to carry out the harvest motif.

Guests at the dinner were Miss Rhoda Tracy, Los Angeles, Miss Wyllis Anderson and Mrs. Will Lindsey.

Y. W. C. A. TO BROADCAST ENGLAND SPEECH

Celebrating the 80th anniversary of the founding of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Emily Kinnaird, India, 83-year-old daughter of the Y. W. C. A. in London, will speak over an NBC hook-up Saturday morning at 8 o'clock Santa Ana time.

The broadcast will come direct from London. The Welsh choir will sing. Quaker Mary will receive purses for work of the organization in the British Isles, in addition to the talk of Miss Kinnaird.

Mrs. John H. Finley, chairman of the foreign division of the national board of the Y. W. C. A. and Miss Anna V. Rice, general secretary, will officially represent the Y. W. C. A. of the United States at this ceremony.

The anniversary fete comes fresh on the recognition of the organization in America by McCall's magazine. A survey sponsored by the magazine sent her on a 10,000-mile trip to question young people in factories, offices, CCC camps, transient shelters and jobless homes as well as to social work agencies.

Her opinion follows: "The only social agency I recognize its responsibilities and attempts to shoulder them liberally, generously and constructively the country over is the Young Women's Christian Association."

Costa Mesa Is Monday Is No Setting For Wedding

In the presence of more than 100 guests last evening at 8 o'clock in Costa Mesa Community church, Miss Jane Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips of Costa Mesa, exchanged marriage vows with J. Malcolm Reid, son of the late Rev. David H. Reid and Mrs. Minnie V. Reid of Costa Mesa. The Rev. W. I. Lowe, pastor, read the service.

The church was arranged in a garden-like atmosphere for the wedding by Mrs. Raymond Eastman. Before the ceremony, Stuart Price of Costa Mesa, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Thompson, sang "Because," and John Stout played a lovely obbligato.

Is Lovely Bride
The bride was very pretty, her dark hair accentuated by a satin cap from which fell her tulle veil, and her gown shimmering white satin with rows of hand-fagoting around the neck and sleeves. She wore an antique gold bracelet which her fiance gave her, and which belonged to his grandmother, Mrs. Verona Preston of Costa Mesa, and carried a shower bouquet of white rosebuds, sweet peas and bouvardia.

Her maid of honor, Miss Eileen Reid of Santa Ana, a niece of the bridegroom, wore ice blue satin and had a wreath of carnations in her hair. The bridesmaids, Misses Janice Marguerat of Santa Ana and Wanda Thompson of Costa Mesa, were in pink and blue organza and carried sweet peas tied with contrasting bows. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

Parker Wilson of Santa Ana was best man. Forrest Neal of Santa Ana and Billy Bushard of Costa Mesa were ushers. After the wedding a reception was given for 70 guests at the church. The bride cut her wedding cake and also a birthday cake, for it was her birthday anniversary.

To Live in Santa Ana
Mrs. Reid wore a black sheer wool frock with satin accents and a jacket in black, all-black accessories and a gardenia corsage when she left with her husband on a San Diego wedding trip, whence they will return to live at 715 West Fourth street, the Ryan apartments.

She is a graduate of San Francisco Polytechnic High school, and came to Costa Mesa two years ago from San Francisco. Her husband, graduate of Newport Harbor High school, is in business in Santa Ana. He is a talented baritone singer and does radio, church and concert work. He is a voice student of Allen Ray Carpenter of Pasadena.

FATHERS, MOTHERS HONORED AT MASONIC MEET
DeMolays and Job's Daughters turned hosts and hostesses last night at the Masonic temple when they entertained more than 250 at their annual mothers and fathers' banquet.

Marshaled by advisors of the two groups, the young Masons formed efficient corps to serve the dinner at long tables which had been centered with decorative leaves and candles.

At the program which followed in the club rooms, Lorraine Wheeler, honored queen of the Job's Daughters, presided as chairman. Shelley Horton, master counselor of the DeMolays, extended welcome to the group.

Anna Mae Archer played a cello solo, accompanied by Audrey Pieper. Don Rice gave a slight-of-hand performance. The DeMolay quartet, including Maurice Bird, Thomas Crotty, Ralph Fagenkopp and Stanley Sebastian, sang a group of numbers, directed by Lorene Crotty Graves.

"Dangers of Communism in the United States" was the subject of the concluding talk by Steward Sherman, Pasadena, who is a student of government in the United States.

The dinner had been arranged by the mothers' groups of the two organizations under direction of Mrs. Roy Horton and Mrs. George Wheeler.

Mary Stoddard Middle-Aged Woman Debates the Possible Happiness of Unromantic Love

Romantic youth regards love as a synonym for happiness. Prosaic middle-age regrettably recognizes that there may be times when love and happiness do not go hand in hand.

"Unromantic" in her early 40's has come to a point where she must choose between happiness without love or love without happiness.

Because she is 40 instead of 20, she's about decided to take happiness without love.

Because she is a woman, she's wondering if sometime in the future she will regret her choice.

Here is her letter: Dear Miss Stoddard: Along with all your other timely advice, which I must say I consider sensible, have you a formula for restoring lost romance?

In 1930 I met a man with whom I thought I would be perfectly happy to spend the rest of my life. We were the same age—in our early 40's—and very congenial.

However, the depression also came along about that time and we had all we could do to keep the wolf from our doors and couldn't consider marrying. I have a position which I could not keep if I married, and two children to support.

During all this time we have been planning in a vague sort of way to be married some time, but now I find myself clear of the notion.

I've looked after my own affairs and struggled so long, I kind of like it.

My "fiance" has very different ideas from mine now. He is always looking away into the future for his good times and good fortune. He doesn't care to enjoy the simple pleasures that come along, an occasional show, picnic or dance, for instance; while I can go and have a thoroughly good time and come back to my work feeling more interested in it. He thinks this is childish.

Anyway, I'm afraid I'd be much less satisfied married than I am now. All my ideas of a happily married life have faded. I have no more romance about me than a cabbage. So what?

Will I be a lonely, disillusioned old woman in years to come if I let this chance for marriage slip past me? UNROMANTIC.

There is no formula for restoring lost romance. Unromantic, and even if there were, my guess is you wouldn't follow it.

You don't want to be romantic, because you're so much happier as you are.

It seems to me that your choice, that of happiness without love, is by far the sanest and wisest—for you.

A man, who is no longer congenial to you, would certainly complicate your life. There is no good reason to marry him, as you well know.

You Have a Home
Why should you be a lonely, disillusioned old woman just because you don't marry? You have your children and your work. You have the capacity for enjoying simple things.

Of course, being a woman there will be times when you'll sigh regretfully and say "If I had married, things would have been different."

And you'll know that had you married, you would have done a lot more sighing, and probably a little weeping, too.

Whether a woman is young or old, she shouldn't marry unless she feels that she simply can't live without the man.

Women of your age and temperament don't feel that way very often. That's why they are happier single.

THE THINKERS

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Do you think parents can do too much for their children?

Mrs. Charles S. Kendall: Yes, I do. I think having too much done for them prevents children from standing on their own feet. Every individual has to meet the world by himself, sooner or later, and to shield a child too completely is to handicap him in his struggle against circumstances.

Mrs. Dean Smiley: Parents do sometimes help their children too much. It seems to me to do too much is almost as harmful as doing too little for a child.

Mrs. Thomas W. Young: Yes, I do. Of course, all mothers tend to spoil their children. But I think the absence of a mother works a great hardship on a child for whom everything has always been done. A child should be taught gradually to stand on his or her own, and fend for himself.

Violet Johnson Tells Romance At Party

That she will be married in January to Wayne Bartholomew was told her fellow members of Tau Delta Phi by Miss Violet Johnson at the club's meeting last evening in the home of Miss Evelyn Chandler, 406 East Walnut street.

Both Miss Johnson and her fiance attended Santa Ana High school and Junior college, and in the latter she was a Moav and a Bachelor. The announcement was made in a prize package presented to Mrs. Robert U. Smith, and was told by means of ribbons tied to a miniature bridal couple. Mrs. Smith's real prize proved to be a yellow pottery pitcher.

A miniature lake scene centered the candle decorated dinner table at which the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. A. B. Chandler, in serving.

Others present were Mesdames Kermit Maynard, John Taylor, George Berry and young daughter, Charlene, and Misses Norma Wilson, Betty Vore, Lucille Howard, Alberta Sanford and Frances Miller.

WORKING GIRLS SEE MAKE-UP DEMONSTRATION

When Miss Jean Gasper came out from under the cosmetics brush of Margaret V. McGurk, she was met with ohs and ahs of approval from her Wrycende Magdenu friends last night in their meeting in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Miss McGurk had been brought to the organization by the Chicago College of Beauty to give a make-up demonstration, and will return to the city next Tuesday, when members of the club were invited to have courtesy make-ups at the beauty parlor here.

Presentation of the Padua Hills players here after Christmas was decided upon by the group as their only benefit this year.

Nov. 16 and 17 were set as dates of the educational home party at Mt. Baldy.

Miss Baily, former Y. W. C. A. secretary here, will be speaker for the group. Miss Carolyn Cushing was named chairman of arrangements.

Acceptance of the year's budget, as outlined by Miss Jean Ena, treasurer, was voted at the meeting. Volley ball in the First Methodist church gymnasium concluded the meeting.

HAPPY AFTERNOON SPENT BY MEMBERS OF POETRY SECTION

Another pleasant October meeting was held by Santa Ana Ebell modern poetry section yesterday afternoon in the home of Miss Martha Ritchey, McFadden street, and for another autumn Miss Ritchey gave abundantly of golden perfections from her orchard to her fellow clubwomen.

Mrs. Robert C. Northcross reviewed Robinson Jeffers' latest work, "Solstice." In the tea hour the hostess, niece, Mrs. Marion Manning of Maywood, and Mrs. S. W. Marshall assisted in serving.

Miss Beulah May told of the progress of her Orange county poetry anthology contest, now in progress.

The home was attractive with quantities of choice dahlias. As the guests prepared to leave, they found boxes of olive perfections piled in the driveway, ready for them to take home.

Walker, 525 East Chestnut avenue, Mrs. Thomas Tournat will give a book review, Miss Ora Davis a talk on perennials, and Mrs. William Nelles, a discussion on bulbs.

MORE WATER DELAY

IT APPEARS we have a proposed modified flood control and water conservation plan—at least one in the making—and no legal authority for offering it to the voters. Engineers in the employ of those who would change the set-up of the project defeated Oct. 4 have burned the midnight oil in an attempt to prepare a new proposal which would serve as a compromise between that which was rejected and that which heavy taxpayers have said they would accept.

Circulators of petitions for another election are in the field today, and the report studied yesterday by members of the Orange County Water district which detailed the new scheme prepared by C. Roy Browning and F. C. Finkle, is to be presented to Experts Etcheverry, Means and Kempkey for their consideration. If they like it, it finally will get to the board of supervisors for official approval. So far only Mr. Browning and Mr. Finkle seem to agree on the new deal. Mr. Browning is the Mojave river champion and Mr. Finkle was employed to kill the 1929 project.

But nobody knows whether, after all of this fuss, another election can be held before six months after the last election, Oct. 4. Those presuming to speak for the federal government have said the WPA allocation for the original undertaking has been "earmarked" as available until Dec. 20, but no longer. We doubt if there would be much difficulty to obtain an extension of time, but it seems unlikely to presume that it would be extended six months. The administration wants to spend that money. It is a part of the New Deal's spending program designed to influence the 1936 campaign, and the sooner the money is in circulation the happier the New Dealers are going to be.

Why proponents of any new move have waited this long to find out what they should have known before the new idea was prepared or presented, is beyond the understanding of the average individual.

Meanwhile taxpayers have received their bills from the tax collector, the oranges have been blown off the trees and the momentum gained by the last campaign has been lost. Few Orange county people are in a spending mood at this moment.

We hope the legal opinion and the various engineering opinions may be thoroughly in hand before there is another desert wind or the good Lord tells us our time is up and we don't have to worry any more about water.

Do you suppose Admiral Byrd went into retirement in the Antarctic to escape high taxes? And if he did, why didn't he take Mr. Hearst with him?

MISHANDLING YOUTH

IT IS HARD for a high school or college student to pick up a newspaper or magazine these days without discovering himself to be under fire as Communist agitator, a lazy-bones, a prey to radical doctrines, a time-waster or just downright immoral. It must be disheartening to be an inmate of a school or university.

Of course, if you get several thousand youngsters together some of them are going to be lazy, some are going to believe in every world-saving scheme that comes along, some are going to misbehave. And, in the nature of things, these are going to get publicity and be publicly wept over, cussed and held up as examples.

But that doesn't alter the fact that the average college student is a serious-minded youngster who works hard, often deprives himself of fun to learn more, and who, if he studies "radical doctrines," probably does so more out of curiosity than anything else.

The silly, short-sighted persons who persist in painting schools and colleges as "hotbeds of anarchy" and "sinks of iniquity" are not merely tearing down the educational system—they are making cynics and rebels out of children.

What young people need most is encouragement and honest, kindly criticism and advice. This business of lumping them altogether and branding them as this, that and the other thing is stupid and destructive.

HOW LONG WILL IT HOLD?

A SENSIBLE man won't work a willing horse to death. But the tax collector is just about doing that to the horse's successor, the more or less willing automobile.

John T. Flynn, in Collier's Magazine, tells the story of Bib Groover of Decatur, Limestone County, Alabama. Every time Mr. Groover drives his modest little car up to a filling station four fiscal pirates pounce on him, each to demand his cut of a multiple Federal, state, county and town tax on gasoline. His gallon of gas costs 13 cents, the fourfold levy comes to 12 cents more, almost a 100 per cent sales tax on what has become a necessity to him.

Not all of the states bear down on the autoist the way Alabama does, but to a greater or less extent you can multiply Mr. Groover's troubles by 25 million, the number of cars in the United States, and get an idea how the American motorist pays and pays.

Last year all state taxes totaled $1,641,000,000. Of this more than half came from motorists.

The mushroom growth of gas and other auto taxes is the result of the mistaken idea that auto owners are all plutocrats. As a matter of fact, Mr. Flynn says, there are more car owners with incomes under $1400 a year than with incomes of more than $7000. Three out of every five car owners have incomes under $3000.

How long, one wonders, can the willing auto bear up under these gathering burdens?

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

The newspaper crowd is mightily proud of the showing of a member of its gang, Ford Frick, as head man of the National league. His days as a Denver reporter are not far behind, yet he has shown an executive seasoning that surprised even his boosters.

Despite his years, he has proved himself a display proper dignity and firmness at a glass-topped desk. Yet after sundown can take his porringer and eat supper with the boys. He has ironed out some rough places with the ease of a born diplomat.

His experience on the radio has resulted in some of the most neatly turned speeches ever heard at luncheon or dinner hereabout. His exuberance might give the impression that life melts in his mouth like butter, but when he has had to face an issue he displays another side. Quite gritty.

He indulges the familiar rigmarole, forming committees, listening to pleas, offering a timid word now and then. But when it comes to a showdown he is out there as a ring master, cracking the whip and adding perhaps a few last minute touches authentically Caesarish.

I dropped in to see the Cherry sisters at one of the restaurants depicting the Gay '90 mode not long ago. Years ago they became a symbol of the worst possible performance on the stage and there were legends they had to appear behind screens to protect them from hoots and jeers. Now almost creaking with years, they were still on the receiving end for hoots and jeers. Somehow a wrench. Not the awfulness of their outdated act, but that humanity could be so desirous to such half-tone lives.

But there's a sadistic touch to almost every crowd watching the despair of failure. It even pops up when finished stars boot their lines at first nights. In Cincinnati one Sunday matinee Elbert Hubbard began his first vaudeville engagement. He was facing an audience craving red noses and baggy pantaloons, comics, jugglers, crossfire patter teams and such. His appearance suggested Lord Oxford at a levee shindig. And he scarcely opened his mouth when the house foamed the cruelest demonstration I ever saw. And he had to walk off, crushed.

The toughest audiences in flush vaudeville days were not at the ace houses. The Palace and Hammerstein's—but at the uptown Colonial on Broadway in the '60s, now a movie. The gallery filled with hoodlums from Hell's kitchen. Even such finished performers as Frank Tinney and George Jessel were bombarded there. The one act always sure fire at the Colonial was Maggie Cline, yowling "Throw 'Em Down McCloskey." Jim and Bonnie Thornton were high favorites, too. But poor Harry Lauder. He could never make the grade there.

Along that Pomander Walk of lay-off actors near the Somerset the other afternoon there developed all of a sudden a religious argument. The controversy was at a red-faced fury when one of the arguers called to a listener on the side-lines to support one of his claims. "What's your religion?" he was asked. He replied: "I'm just a bass singer." And moved quickly down the street.

Morris Gest has again tossed his battered and fuzzy black fedora in the producing ring. He has been ranging the Rialtos of Europe and picked up a play or so upon which he pins Alpine hopes. No one has mounted the upper slopes or descended the valleys of theatricals so dramatically. He is the embodiment of a transition period—the last of the old-time showmen who knows every phase of the theater from selling sidewalk tickets to taking a curtain bow for a first night triumph. And now wonders what!

'MOTHER' WINS PRIZE For having brought up 73 children a widow of 66 has just won a prize of $200 in Le Touquet. The 73 were little wards of the nation abandoned by their parents. "I was married at 17," she said, "but I had no children, so I applied to the authorities."

"I showed that wise guy I was no dope. When I bumped into him and he starts handin' me a line about how he was gonna call me, here it's two months I'm back in the city, I cut him short and says to him, 'You was all right in the Catskills. For the city I got my other boy friends.' I showed him that I'm no summer romance girl, all right."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Those in the state war and navy departments who scan every word in the hundreds of confidential cables received daily from the European front, say that the prospects for peace or war swing back and forth like a pendulum.

The latest swing is to the gloomy side. The French, who had been holding British back, now seem more willing to unspool the leash. This again may change overnight. For the man responsible for this pro-British swing is Premier Laval. Public opinion in France is just the opposite. And it is possible that Laval may be unseated within the month.

Laval's swing toward the British is extremely significant. It is the result of ardent behind-the-scenes dickering between Paris and London. What the French premier has been pounding home to his would-be allies across the channel is the absolute necessity of British support for France against Germany.

"The Rhine runs as far as the Nile," is what Laval has emphasized. He has said that if France gets British help along the Rhine, Britain can get French help in the Mediterranean.

At first the British were hesitant. Latest reports, however, indicate they have yielded. That is the interpretation placed upon the recent meeting of French and British general staffs. On those extremely rare occasions when the two high commands sit down together, they do not play marbles.

ANTI-NEW DEAL FIRM NEW DEAL enemies have screened a special propaganda film to expose Roosevelt's attitude on the constitution. It is called "The Sentinel" and consists of a conglomeration of shots from newscasts and film libraries. It charts the constitution from its signing to the present day.

Sound effects consist chiefly of anti-administration comment. The "League for Upholding the Constitution," which ordered the film, will stage the first showing this month in Baltimore.

FRANKLIN'S ADVISER HARRY BAGAN, 250-pound Cambridge, Mass., policeman and president of the Fat Men's Club of New England, is motoring to Washington this week to lunch at the White House.

Official reason for the pilgrimage is Bagan's alleged one-time friendship with James Roosevelt when Jimmy was an undergraduate at Harvard.

Actual reason, however, is that Bagan, long a familiar figure around Harvard Square, has become father confessor to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., now a Harvard junior.

DRY KENTUCKY? THE ADMINISTRATION kept an eye on one election yesterday—the wet and dry vote in Kentucky, home of the nation's biggest distilling industry.

During prohibition days, Kentucky was made dry by a constitutional amendment, always difficult to change. Rather than try to change it after repeal, Kentucky lawmakers put through a bill whereby anyone can walk into a saloon and "prescribe" for himself whatever drink he wants.

Naturally this ran afoul of the dries, who are testing the constitutionality of the act in the Kentucky supreme court, where it is almost certain to be found unconstitutional.

The supreme court, however, has withdrawn its decision until after the vote.

But if the vote is negative, the chances are that not only will Kentucky be dry, but also that its $100,000,000 whiskey industry will be seriously jeopardized.

NO HURRY PRO-COATED dignitaries of the legal profession, who came here to contest the constitutionality of the Guffey coal-control act, writhed in anguish over the nonchalance of Justice Jesse Adkins.

Obviously impressed by the importance of their suit, the lawyers were on hand bright and early for the opening of the court.

Justice Adkins let them warm the benches. Throughout the morning they fidgeted and twisted while he proceeded with a variety of routine matters. Finally, as noon approached the restive counsel sighed with relief. Justice Adkins finished the case before him and paused to learn the next on his calendar.

"Well, now, gentlemen," he remarked casually, "I have a lot of people waiting to see me and I haven't had lunch. I think we had better let this go over until tomorrow."

Note:—After finally hearing argument, Justice Adkins refused to grant the contesting coal company the injunction it sought against the tax provisions of the law, but did give it a temporary order to withhold compliance with the producers' code.

Final determination of this issue, the company was required to post a $1500-a-day bond.

MERRY-GO-ROUND A SUDDEN boom in American imports of Russian earthenware is puzzling commerce officials. The amazing total of 19,000 dozen articles came in during September alone. The August figure was zero. Secretary Wallace sounded like a sports announcer when he reported the corn-hog poll by different states. "Rhode Island," he said, "has the best score of all—7 to 0."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

NOV. 6, 1910

PRINCETON, N. J.—Parades and jubilation are the order of the day in Princeton, which will devote its off hours for the remainder of the week in celebrating the election of Woodrow Wilson to the governorship.

At Tuesday night's meeting of the Elks, W. L. Grubb in a neat speech presented the lodge with a splendid pair of antlers, the result of his shooting trips. Dr. G. H. Dobson received the gift on behalf of the lodge. Parke S. Roper will have the horns polished and mounted, and they will be placed in the parlors of the new Elks home, now in course of construction.

Editorial in the Santa Ana Blade, 1910:

Certain militant Christians who have been in the habit of sending contributions to The Blade expressing their particular views on religious subjects, are hereby notified with all possible courtesy, that in the future this paper will not publish such matter, as apart from the firm belief that God Almighty never intended that the getting to Heaven would be made easier by such methods, The Blade's objection to mixing in the scrap that might terminate in the police court impels it to steer clear of the imputation of being accessory before the fact in a possible action for disturbance of the peace.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Political Lines Seem to Be Fading Away

PRESIDENTIAL bees are buzzing around earlier before election than usual. This indicates two things. The administration is considerably alarmed at the growing opposition and is talking loud and fast to bolster up its waning courage. The Republicans are completely lost and are floundering helplessly for men and issues.

EVERY presidential election is peculiar but none quite so much as the present situation. Here is a party with overwhelming power, controlling the executive and legislative branches of the government more completely than ever one party did before. And yet the doddering old donkey shudders at the screams of mice and shivers at every breeze that blows.

And the opposition party, almost as large in numbers, anxiously scans its membership for leaders of vision and courage. This is the sure result of party lines fading away, so that, even with a microscope, none can tell the difference between a hungry Democrat and a hungry Republican.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is reported to have picked his rival for next year. His choice falls on Governor Landon of Kansas. Assuming his hunch to be correct the president is already planning a mid-west campaign to offset the governor's supposed strength.

But the smiling governor holds

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

If those birds who are flying over the country continue to send me cards without affixing the proper credentials his imagination is going psychopathic. One of 'em tosses me a souvenir card about a hotel and signs it "X". Another puts down an "X", and one more fails to make any identification mark at all of which accentuates my hope that television will soon make its appearance, when we shall know each other better when we try to hide from each other. The latest contribution is from Arizona, showing a couple of Hopi mamas packing water. This card arrived just in time to get into the Orange county water controversy. It want good for anything else.

Just so it's water instead of wind.

The thing I like best about Christmas is that it is coming. When it arrives, well, that's not so hot.
